Manufacturer Provided Description

The Cutwater is a fast, efficient family cruiser with onboard livability, luxury and convenience. With its 10-foot beam, the hull provides plenty of volume for comfort on deck and below. The Stepped Keel hull design places the engine lower than conventional hull forms allow, for exceptional stability, as well as extra headroom in all living spaces.

The aft cockpit features convertible seating, side bench seats fold outward from each hullside to accommodate four adults; another double seat, built into the transom, may be adjusted to face forward or aft. An opening panel in the cabin bulkhead allows the aft dinette seat to be reversed in order to accommodate two more guests. On the foredeck, two flush hatches open to reveal a pair of cushioned observation seats, each with a footwell that doubles as fender storage. The bow platform features a telescoping five-step ladder that extends to allow easy access to and from the beach or the water.

Opening windows brighten the main-deck salon. The dinette converts to a double berth, and a custom pedestal table with integral beverage holders and grab rail. A European-style galley counter with under-counter fridge spans the full length of the salon's port side, and opens for access to a double stainless-steel sink and electric cooktop, and to a contoured aft-facing lounge. Opposite is the fully instrumented helm station with a double-wide helm seat. Beneath the raised dinette is a private guest cabin with gear storage, reading lamp, portlights and a 6' 8" double berth.
